FATHER JOHN’S MESSAGE

Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time A

The crowds were hungry in Jesus’ day. The crowds are still hungry today. And Jesus asks you to give them something to eat. In our country there is not a hunger for food but for meaning and belonging, a deep hunger to be loved. Don’t turn away anyone whom you sense has this hunger. They are asking not simply for your friendship, but for that friendship which gives meaning to your life, Jesus Christ. He is the hunger of the crowd. Will you stop to satisfy their hunger? The Gospel is shared one person at a time. Don’t be intimidated by the task like the disciples were. See the method: “Bring them here to me.” He is asking you to be the link in the chain to him.

Peace. Fr. John

Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time A

What do Elijah, St. Paul and St. Peter have in common this Sunday in the readings? Elijah is fleeing for his life from Jezebel. St. Paul is speaking out of his great sorrow for his fellow Jews. Peter is crying out as he sinks into waves of the sea. In his fear Elijah learns to meet God in the stillness of silence. Paul encounters the Holy Spirit in his conscience, St. Peter grabs Jesus’ hand in the storm. Jesus desires that we encounter him, not just now and again but as a dear companion who accompanies us and comforts us with his company.

Peace. Fr. John
